ÅSNEN NATIONAL PARK
INLAND ARCHIPELAGO AND OLD-GROWTH FOREST
You will find silence here - or maybe not ...
Nature has so many sounds.
The waves and the wind.
The old trees that creak.
Songs from so many different birds - all year round.
When dusk falls, take your chance to see the stars.
Far from the city's lights.
The National Park is part of the large lake Åsnen and its surroundings.

There is a wide variety of nature environments here. The forests change from lush deciduous forest to lean pine forest. There are many different types of wetlands and beaches to be found here. There is also a mire with small lakes. In the heart of the park, one finds the large islands, each of which can provide a full-day experience.

Åsnen has something to offer in every season. Bird-watch, paddling, observe the lichens and mushrooms, go skating along the beach or ski on snow-covered ice.

We look forward to seeing you here!
HABITATS AND SPECIES

Within the National Park, there are more than 100 different types of plants and animals that are protected by law or designated as endangered in Sweden. Among these are lichens, fungi, insects and birds. Examples are pink Bacidia fungi, hedgehog mushroom, large black longhorn beetle and the lesser spotted woodpecker.

BROAD-LEAVED DECIDUOUS FOREST

There is a variety of lichens, fungi and mosses to explore. Old trees and dead wood provides food and shelter for insects and birds. In the autumn, you can see the coral tooth fungus.

MIXED FOREST

On many islands and peninsulas, one finds mixed forests of deciduous and coniferous trees. Pines that can withstand strong winds are important as nesting trees for birds. Oaks, willows and alder can be found in clearings and along the water.

MIRE

In the southern part, one finds the Toftåsa mire surrounded by an old pine forest and mixed forests. Marsh labrador tea, cloudberries and linnaea grow here. In the spring the black grouse can be heard.
